ASSIGNMENT-2

TITLE:- DIFFERENCE BETWEEN IPV4 AND IPV6

- IPv4 uses a 32-bit address and supports about 4.3 billion unique IP addresses, making it limited for today's growing internet.

- IPv6 uses a 128-bit address, provides an almost unlimited number of unique IP addresses, and offers better efficiency and security for modern networks.